

Evangelos Vlachos, CEO, Athens Development and Destination Management Agency

Evangelos Vlachos is the CEO of the Athens Development and Destination Management Agency, a public company owned by the City of Athens that supports the city's strategy for tourism, innovation, and social development.

From 2014 to 2019, he was Director of the Office of the Regional Governor of Central Greece where he oversaw strategic planning and development for the region.

From 2011 to 2014, he was Special Advisor to the Mayor of Karpenisi with a portfolio that included public works financing and infrastructure development. He has a master's degree in engineering from the National Technical University of Athens with a specialization in the design and construction of underground works. He has been a technical consultant and safety engineer on mining projects throughout Greece.

